

Iphla - International Philatelic Literature Exhibition

Two Large Gold + Special Prize and many important awards for the works published by Vaccari

The international exhibition of philatelic literature, held from 2 to 4 November 2012 in Mainz, Germany, the city where Johann Gutenberg was born, is an appointment devoted to books, catalogues, newspapers and articles, but also texts broadcast on the radio and on TV, and, for the first time, digital literature and web sites.

The company has taken part in the exhibition where the most important works published in the world (in one of the European languages) have been selected. And results have been really satisfying.

Some titles signed Vaccari, some of them also in English and/or in German have been proposed (and all of them awarded), but above all, for the first time, there has been the possibility to present the daily web magazine "Vaccari news", recently selected as the best web site in Italy for philatelic information.

One of the biggest publishers and dealers internationally, the company could not miss this great opportunity to meet colleagues and the public, a chance to exchange opinions and ideas, interesting and stimulating for sure.

Vaccari has been working for years with the aim of publishing high quality volumes and of underlying the importance philatelic literature deserves more and more. This specialized event has confirmed the validity of the work done, not only by the company but also by the authors, to whom many congratulations.

Important awards, in fact, have been obtained. Two Large Gold medals, both with Special Prize. One to the daily web magazine "Vaccari news - philately in real time", written in Italian and nonetheless a precious service for collectors; the other one, to the volume "Letter Mail from and to the Old Italian States 1850-1870", signed by Mario Mentaschi and Thomas Mathä. And then five Gold, three Vermeil, two Large Silver, one Silver.

On the occasion, the importance of philatelic literature and of the "Philatelic Bookshop" has been underlined: Vaccari catalogue is delivered free and gathers all the works signed Vaccari, but also those from the other publishers from all over the world about philately and postal history, postcards, catalogues, colonies, forgeries, fiscals, handbooks, air mail, maritime and military, preadhesive, postal rates, thematic, numismatics and collecting.

Vaccari stand in Mainz.
