Silvia and Valeria Vaccari launched Edizioni Vaccari s.a.s. on 30 June 1989 with the intent of further developing the publishing activity already pioneered by their father, Paolo Vaccari, within his philatelic business started in 1977. In 1998 the two businesses joined together to form Vaccari s.r.l.

The distribution of philatelic literature started with the publication of specialized books and catalogues on philately and postal history. These works have received and continue to receive prestigious awards at national and international exhibitions within the sector. Acknowledgements serve as an incentive to continue on the same path and follow the same selective criteria which have been always used to obtain continually improved results while also being able to offer enthusiasts and scholars authoritative works on the various aspects of philately and postal history.

Following this same aim and philosophy, “Vaccari Magazine” has been published since 1989, a bi-monthly magazine with philatelic and postal history information. In addition, “Catalogo Vaccari” has been published since 1990, a historic essay and catalogue with real market price appraisals, analyses of the stamps, and postal history of Italy from 1850 to 1900. In 2003, the daily online “Vaccari News - Philately in Real Time”, the first web based magazine in the sector, was added.

The publishing activity works parallel to the distribution department. Vaccari stands as one of the main distributors on an international level and is the only one in Italy to have such a wide range of products with thousands of titles from all over the world. The topics range from philatelic collecting and other types of collecting, postal history, air, maritime and military post, Italian and foreign mail, as well as catalogues, handbooks and dictionaries.

The first edition of this catalogue was issued in 1989 and in 1995 the new “1x1” sales section was added, which presents new, used, antique and rare books as well as magazines, catalogues, decrees, postal regulations, and many more interesting works and hard-to-find volumes.

Over time the number of titles offered in the catalogue has continued to grow as the various categories have been reorganized and in 2005 a full colour presentation was achieved.

In 2008 the “Philatelic Bookshop” was joined by the “History Bookshop”, a special section on history and military history, aviation, navy, weapons and tanks, corps, uniforms and military badges, fortifications and defence operations, along with numerous new volumes by major Italian publishers. The “History Bookshop” grew rapidly over the years, increasing from 400 titles initially to over 850 works today.

Both catalogues, in a unique publication, are published in hard copy once a year and sent free of charge to those who request them. The web version of these catalogues is continually updated with new works, detailed information on all the volumes with their covers, descriptions, and, when available, the indexes, presentations, notes on the authors, etc.

Only on the site, with online shopping since 1996, can you find special deals, end-of-season sales and interesting titles throughout the year.
